A cutting edge doesn't cut

The Nox line, designed by Raul Barbieri, features cylindrical containers, planters, and vase trays. Made of brushed stainless steel, the products feature streamlined "no cut" rounded edges for safety. They also come with casters. Rexite, Milan. www.rexite.it CIRCLE 222

Containers dune right

With a graceful form inspired by the rhythmic undulations of desert sand dunes, these cast-concrete landscape containers are appropriately called the Dune Series. They range in size from a shallow wok to a 44"-high planter. Kornegay Design, Tempe, Ariz.

Secure in its looks

Huntco's solution to fully covered bike storage also provides improved security. Made of high-density polyethylene, each shell-like pod is 32½" wide, 51½" high, and 74½" long. Huntco Supply, Portland, Ore. www.huntco.com CIRCLE 224

Lightweight and lighthearted

Made from molded polypropylene and stainless steel or aluminum, the Take 5 seating, table, and planter line offers lightweight solutions for a variety of commercial outdoor and indoor spaces. Landscape Forms, Kalamazoo, Mich. www.landscapeforms.com CIRCLE 225

Take a load off

Offering the attractiveness and warmth of wood, yet boasting construction that's rugged enough for use in the most demanding public space, the Hudson Bench is 100 percent Ipé wood. Forms+Surfaces, Carpinteria, Calif. www.forms-surfaces.com CIRCLE 226

Holier than other tables

The Tolt table and bench combine the "classic" material of acacia wood with a "high-tech" Corian tabletop. Featuring a retro 1970s feel, the perforated tabletop allows for easy drainage and cleaning. Ideas for Living, Albuquerque, N.M. www.extremis.be CIRCLE 227

The slight slope makes the Dune Series containers a little more elegant and different. —MORLEY BLAND
